WHAT SHOULD WE EAT? EXPERTS DENOUNCE FISH AND MEAT EXTRACTS. SIR ARBUTHNOT LANE'S PLEA FOR MODERATE USE OF ALCOHOL.

Speaking in Manchester at the eighty-third anniversary dinner of the Vegetarian Society Sir William Arbuthnot Lane, in an address on vegetarianism and theills of civilization, criticised the menu. Sir William criticised out that although there was a number of large dishes piled with fruit on the tables nobody seemed to have made use of them except the Chairman (Mr. J. Cummings Walters), who had eaten a banana. He always began a meal with grape fruit; there was no grape fruit on the menu, nor was there celery. Eating fruit was the simplest way and nature's way of taking vitamins.

"Are you all teetotallers?" asked Sir William, to which came the reply from the back of the room,
"Yes, most of us."

Alcohol the Worst and Best Thing.

"Personally," Sir William continued, "I think alcohol, taken in moderation, is the greatest thing given to man, but in excess the worst. For every man who dies from alcohol fifty die from meat." He did not think he had seen a man die from alcohol for a long time, but people were continually dying from cancer, and if anyone wanted to have cancer they had only to eat meat and become constipated. Cancer could only grow in filth, and the health of the body depended on the body's drainage system. Simpler food needed to be devised.

Continuing his criticism of the menu, Sir William said meals should be made more attractive. Appetite depended to a large extent on sight and smell. There should not be imitation chops and cutlets. "I don't see why there should not be more fruit and even beer," he said.

Prohibition had done an enormous amount of harm. He urged members of the society to understand why they were vegetarians, and among other things spoke of the great value of violet rays. Two or three minutes' exposure to violet rays was of as much benefit as lying two or three hours in the sun on the Mediterranean.

At the afternoon meeting Mr.
Arthur Millwood, of Bury, spoke on "Health through diet," and of modern food fallacies. "It was not true," he said, "that the more a man ate the stronger he was. All the energy of the body was needed to digest and assimilate the food taken at a big meal, and over-eating taxed the strength of the body."

Meat extracts and home-made beef-tea were among the most harmful things that should be given to a sick person. Instead of using such preparations, which poisoned, it would be wiser to drink clean water and various fruit juices. A recent food fallacy that had attained remarkable popularity was that liver extracts were especially beneficial in the treatment of anaemia.
The fact was that the iron in liver was of a very poor quality and was mixed with food poisons, a pound of liver containing some twenty grains of purin bodies.

Fish!

Another fallacy of vital importance to health was in regard to fish. Fish was a dangerous source of uric acid, principally on account of its tendency to putrefy quickly.
Fish was more dangerous in many cases than meat, and suffers from rheumatism, skin, liver, or kidney troubles should abstain from it.
Nor was fish the ideal brain food it was popularly supposed to be. Proper activity of the brain depended upon the purity of the blood and an adequate supply of it, and not on the presence of any single element such as phosphorus. Kale, radishes, watercress, and brussels sprouts all contained, weight for weight, more phosphorus than fish, and they had not the poisons that were inseparable from fish. Quality rather than quantity should be the fish aim in food selection.

Flesh meats contained a considerable amount of waste and poisonous matter, and if we wished to attack and maintain radiant health we must cut out of our dietary foods which were contaminated by harmful and stimulating toxins, taking only those foods which contained genuine nourishment and which supplied all our present physical needs and fortified our bodies to resist disease.

When Doctors Differ!

Doctors seldom disagree and Dr.
Arthur Dean Bevan, former president of the American Medical Association, declares that "Alcoholic drink neither promotes greater healthfulness nor in anyway retards disease. The use of alcohol is unnecessary to the growth and maintenance of the body. The continued daily use of alcohol is injurious.
Persons addicted to the use of alcohol are known to show less resistance in many acute disease and in operations than temperate individuals."

"Alcohol is not a desirable food nor is it a desirable beverage, because it is a narcotic. Alcohol is a habit-forming drug, a drug to which a very considerable percentage of people are susceptible."

SCIENTISTS AND SAINTS.

EINSTEIN AMONG THE IMMORTALS.

New York.—Confucius, Buddha and Mahomet, as well as Christ, are among the figures carved in stone above the main doorway of the new Riverside Baptist Church, New York, the largest Nonconformist Church in the world, on which untold millions of dollars have been lavished.

The new age of religious toleration is strikingly symbolised in the choice of immortals thus commemorated in statues, for great scientists and philosophers (many of them condemned as heretics in their day) take rank with saints, angels and religious leaders. Old-fashioned Fundamentalists are aghast to find Charles Darwin, their pet aversion, given a place of honour, and the presence of Einstein, incidentally, is the only living man represented, and I hear that his choice was urged on the Church by leading scientists of America and Europe, who declared he was the greatest living man.

Other scientists carved over the door are Hippocrates, Euclid, Archimedes, Hipparchus, Galileo, Kepler, Newton, Dalton, Faraday, Pasteur and Lister. The philosophers similarly honoured include several who, in their day, were attacked as atheists, the list including Pythagoras, Plato, Socrates, Epicurus, Aristotle, Seneca, Epictetus, Plotinus, Saint Thomas Aquinas, Descartes, Spinoza, Kant, Hegel and ending with Emerson, the only American among these immortals, and himself the victim of a heresy hunt.

Moses, Confucius, St. Francis.

In the ranks of religious leaders Moses stands shoulder to shoulder with Confucius, whilst after Buddha and Mahomet follow Origen, Saint Francis of Assisi, Dante, Luther, Calvin, Bunyan and Milton. William Carey, the pioneer missionary, and David Livingstone are the only figures of modern times in this group. Christ is the central figure of the whole design, about whom all the rest are ranged.

While Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick has thus given visible proof of his broad-mindedness, another celebrated leader of liberal thought, Dr. John Haynes Holmes, of the Community Church, New York, has come out with the assertion that the present churches are rapidly disintegrating, and that the churches of the future will represent a synthesis of the great religions of the world.

One Religion?

"It is not difficult," he said in a recent sermon, "to forecast the future of religion as it will be practised by men when they have shaken off the dogmas of theology and the private interests of sects and denominations. In the future when science has done its work and the new society has come, there will be no Bonapartes, or Presbyterians, or Methodists, or Unitarians, no Protestants or Catholics, no Christians, Jews or Buddhists, but only men united in one spirit of religion. "Churches will be open daily as clinics of healing, schools of culture and agencies of reform, and will be gathering places for people to consider questions of public moment. There will be no professional ministry as we have it to-day."

PRISON FOR MR. SYME.

EX-INSPECTOR SAYS "I SHALL GO ON HUNGER STRIKE."

Ex-Inspector John Syme, formerly of the Metropolitan Police, was told by the magistrate at Bow-street Police Court that he must go to prison for two months if he refused to be bound over and find a surety for £50.

He was charged with "using threatening behaviour likely to cause a breach of the peace."

An inspector said that he saw Mr. Syme rush across the road to No. 10, Downing-street, drawing from his pocket a piece of metal around which was wrapped a letter addressed to the Prime Minister.

Mr. Fry (the magistrate) said: I remanded you yesterday hoping that you would give me an undertaking not to do this sort of thing. Mr. Syme: No, I am afraid I cannot do that. Mr. MacDonald for over 20 years has asked me now after this long time, I have to do this unpleasant thing to make the Home Office and the Government get a move on.

Mr. Fry: If you persist in this sort of attitude I shall bind you over in the sum of £50, and you will also have to find a surety of £50.

Mr. Syme said that he could not find a surety.

Mr. Fry: Then you must go to prison for two months.

Mr. Syme: Very good, sir. That is my duty. I know that you have your duty to do. If under-stand your position.

DETECTIVES' 20 YEAR ILLNESS.

HIS STORY OF SYDNEY STREET SIEGE.

Twenty years after the famous "Battle of Sidney-street," ex-Detective Sergeant Leeson, who received eleven bullet wounds and narrowly missed death at the hands of Fritz Svane and "Joseph," is still wearing bandages.

"I was lucky to escape alive," he said to a Daily Express representative, "and I suppose I must not really complain."

"Yet after all this time I still have trouble with my lungs, which were penetrated twice, and I am forced to keep the wounds on my legs bound."

Mr. Leeson has emerged from the obscurity of years as a result of the graphic story of the "siege" which was told by ex-Chief Constable Wensley, of Scotland-yard, in his memoirs.

Eleven Wounds.

The ex-detective-sergeant was the first man to be hit after the house in Sidney-street had been surrounded.

Mr. Leeson to-day is in charge of the staff of the Regal Cinema at Marble Arch, and although he was forced to retire from the Metropolitan Police after the "battle" due to his wounds, he still bears the outward marks of the policeman.

It is natural that Leeson recalls vividly each detail of that early morning twenty years ago when the first rattle of revolver fire announced the beginning of the "siege" and, at the same time, followed him to the street with eleven separate bullet wounds.

It was his last police job, he said. "It might have been anybody else; it just happened to be me."

He has one grievance that he did not see more of the "scrap." "I was hoisted to a shed roof shortly after I was struck," he explained, "and Mr. Wensley followed me. It was the only possible means of escape into the next street."

"But Fritz and Joseph had climbed to the top of their house, and they could see us, so they opened fire again."

"I rolled off the stretcher across the roof and dropped into a brewery yard, where three chaps looked after me."

"Mr. Wensley remained on top and bravely took pot luck. "I went to hospital," he added, "and that ended my career in the police."

GIRL ACTRESS ARRESTED.

INTERRUPTED DASH FOR GRETN.

Carlisle.—Miss Beatrix Gwendoline Edna Renwick, the 17-year-old London actress for whom the police have been searching for three days, was arrested to-day in a motor-car at Sark Bridge on the way to Gretna Green, by detectives who pursued her in another car.

As the detectives entered Sark Bridge, a small village, they saw a two-seater car drawing up in front of a house. One of the detectives then arrested Miss Renwick, who was in the car with a young man.

It is believed that Miss Renwick and her companion mistook Sark Bridge for Gretna Green, and were under the belief that the house at which they stopped was the famous smithy where marriages take place. There was no charge made against the young man, who was allowed, in the words of the police, "to go his own way."

Earlier Miss Renwick was brought before a magistrate at Carlisle, and was remanded until the arrival of an escort from Brighton.

Miss Renwick lives at Tenterden-drive, Hendon, N.W. A warrant was issued for her arrest after she failed to answer charges of fraud and false pretences at Brighton.

Champagne and Whisky.

She should have appeared on a charge of obtaining 50 bottles of champagne, three bottles of whisky, three bottles of gin, cigars and other articles valued at £20 10s. by false pretences from Leonard Green, and on charges of obtaining credit for more than £20 by false pretences. She failed to surrender to her bail.

Mr. Brickerton Pratt, who represented the girl, said that the charges were the outcome of a youthful escapade concerned with the idea of entertaining friends and giving them a good time.

When the girl's name was called there was no response.

Her mother said she knew nothing of her daughter's whereabouts.

Detective Inspector Wells said that Miss Renwick had been traced to her home and had been taken into custody.

ISLE-OF-MAN IN TERROR.

A MURDERER AT LARGE.

Ramsey (Isle of Man).—Lonely cottagers in the mountains of the Isle of Man crouched, sleepless, behind bolted doors and shuttered windows all one night last month; a murderer was at large somewhere outside in the storm.

Late at night armed police, after scouring the hills for hours in driving wind and rain, abandoned the search for the murderer of Percy William Brooke, a retired farmer of Ramsey, who was shot dead the previous afternoon as he entered a cottage on the side of the Snafell mountain.

The search was resumed at day-break.

From His Own Gun.

The cottage was owned by Mr. Brooke, and it is believed that the shot was fired from his own gun.

Mr. Brooke had been in the habit of leaving his shotgun and ammunition in the cottage, which he used as a shooting box when hunting in the mountains.

He was accompanied by a man named William Kinrade when he entered the cottage to obtain his gun.

He had reached the bottom of the stairs when he turned to Kinrade and said, "Somebody is in the house. The door is open."

Mr. Brooke was going up the stairs, followed by Kinrade, when a shot was fired from the landing. Mr. Brooke fell with a wound in the neck. He was bending forward as he mounted the stairs.

Kinrade at once ran out for help, and attracted the attention of some men who were working on the road-way. They returned with him to the cottage, and found Mr. Brooke lying dead at the bottom of the stairs. The house was empty, and the gun and some of the ammunition were missing.

The police were notified, and the Chief Constable of the Isle of Man rushed over from Douglas by car. A search was made of the district by hurriedly organised parties of police, and later more than twenty armed police, equipped with torches, started to search a wide area among the mountains.

Cuticura Healed Awful Disfigurement On Girl and Boy

"My daughter had warty pimples on her face and when they broke it caused the trouble to spread. The pimples were inflamed and sore and later scaled over and were very painful. The disfigurement was awful. She could not go out unless she was bandaged up. My little boy had the same trouble, and he also had blisters on his neck and fingers. It was heart-breaking to see the little chap."

"Cuticura Soap and Ointment were recommended as I purchased some, and after using two boxes of Cuticura Ointment and two cakes of Cuticura Soap my children were healed." (Signed) Mrs. A. E. Rush, 22, Cornhill Bldg., Russell Sq., London, W.C.1. Eng., Jan. 3, 1930.

"POINTED HEELS."

The patrons at the Central Theatre seemed much pleased yesterday with the current offering "Pointed Heels." This production has all the required ingredients of first class entertainment. There is clever acting, interesting plot and first-rate comedy.

William Powell runs off with the acting honours. He is the suave man-about-town and producer of artistic stage revues who forms the third side to the romance triangle of which Fay Wray and Phillips Holmes are the other components. Miss Wray is the show girl who marries Holmes, the youthful song-composer. Their married happiness is almost spoiled by the machinations of the urbane Powell, but at the finish the lyric admixture is cleared by a surprise twist in character on the part of Powell who turns out to be a demi-villain after all.

In brief it is as simple as all that, but in the audible celluloid unwinding of it "Pointed Heels" is intensely gripping at all times, even when Helen Kane and "Skeets" Gallagher, a new movie song and dance team, are putting over their amusing mummery. One never knows just what turn the fortunes of all will take at each moment of the play, and that is the proof of good entertainment.

Helen Kane is the little girl whose work on the radio and phonograph brought her fame almost overnight. She sings two great songs in this production.

There are some deftly worked out ballet-ensembles in the stage sequences which are worth going to see.

"Glorifying the American Girl."

For the second time in her life, Mary Eaton has been "glorified," for this famous musical comedy star, originally discovered by Florenz Ziegfeld, and subsequently starred by him in the Broadway success, "Kid Boots," plays the leading feminine role in Paramount's all-talking, and dancing musical picture, "Glorifying the American Girl." It goes without saying that Mary Eaton as the "glorified" girl is a delight to behold and a joy to listen to.

Personally supervised by Florenz Ziegfeld himself, "Glorifying the American Girl" emerges as gay entertainment in which glittering, tuneful musical comedy sequences are effectively blended with a delightful story of a girl who dreams of a great Broadway success. There is romance, too, in this picture, of a pattern seldom seen on the screen. The novelty of its treatment makes possible an unusually effective dramatic situation rarely seen in a picture of this type.

Miss Eaton sings a charming number, "There Must Be Somebody Waiting For Me," the song hit of the show. Helen Morgan, the famous star of the original "Show Boat," and now currently on view as leading lady in Broadway's most popular musical success, "Sweet Adeline," sing a new song appropriately titled "What Wouldn't I Do For That Man?" Eddie Cantor is featured in a hilarious comedy skit and Rudy Vallee and his Connecticut Yankees play their radio hit, "Vagabond Lover." Others in the cast who contribute good performances are Dan Healy, a prominent Broadway comedian, Olive Shea, a beautiful newcomer to the screen, and Edward Crambell, a recruit from the legitimate stage.

"The Kiss."

Jacques Feyder's fetish for world camera angles even included the still camera when he directed "The Kiss," Greta Garbo's new starring picture which is showing at the Queen's Theatre.

Following Feyder's instructions that the stills be photographed from the same angles from which the moving scenes were shot, Milton Browne, Miss Garbo's stillman, had to build up a collection of "baby" tripods and step-ladders from which to take his pictures. The result was one of the most unusual sets of stills ever obtained.

Feyder has made use of European mechanistic theories in filming the picture and has produced results which are interesting not only from the aspect of their novelty but also from an artistic viewpoint.

Conrad Nagel plays opposite Miss Garbo and the supporting cast includes Anders Randolph, Low Ayres and Holmes Herbert. The picture is sound synchronized.

"The Florodora Girl."

The old family album will be brought to life in "The Florodora Girl," Marion Davies' picture of the "Gay Nineties," which will be shown to-morrow at the Queen's Theatre.

The period when the bustle was flaunted on milady's hips, when horse-cars and hansom cabs were the chief means of transportation will be relived in this story of the romance of a member of the famous "Florodora Sextette."

Gane Markey wrote the story and Harry Beaumont directed. A large supporting cast includes Lawrence Gray, Walter Catlett, Louis John Bartels, Vivian Oakland, Sam Hardy, Claude Allister, Ned Hardy, Nance O'Neil and a group of minor players.

Among the quaint scenes of the "nineties" which were reproduced are a section of the Bowery, New York, including a street exterior with the elevated rumbling overhead, quack medicine barkers, election torch parades and a general hurdy-gurdy jumble of humanity.

The ex-Kaiser is an important character in a play called "Glorifying the American Girl," which deals with the story of a girl who dreams of a great Broadway success. It is a play called "Glorifying the American Girl," which deals with the story of a girl who dreams of a great Broadway success.

"TALKIES" MENACE TO AMATEUR STAGE.

DIFFICULTY OF FINDING THEATRES.

HOPES OF REACTION.

In his presidential address at the annual general meeting of the National Operatic and Dramatic Association at Blackpool last month, Mr. Dudley Stuart Page said that although the past year had seen a slight decrease in membership there had been progress in many ways.

Talkies An Abomination.

"Perhaps," he said, "the decrease in membership may be accounted for by the fact that the amateur stage, in common with the commercial theatre, is passing through a period of intense depression, which, I am afraid, has not been improved by the industrial and agricultural depression throughout the country. Again, the prevailing craze for that cacophonous abomination known as the talkies, has proved a somewhat serious menace to the amateur stage, not so much because of the opposition of that particular form of entertainment, but rather because so many theatres have been converted to the talkies, thereby depriving many societies of their regular theatres. I believe the time will come when many of these theatres will revert to the legitimate stage, but in the meantime many societies are confronted with the difficulty of finding places in which to give their performances."

Two hundred members representing all parts of the country were present at the meeting.

Back to the True Stage.

Presenting a report on the north dramatic section Mr. T. W. Bamford declared that talkies, although not by any means perfect at the present time, must be entirely revolting to all intelligent people. If it did nothing else, that form of entertainment would probably increase the love of the drama which was inborn in all Britons. That must be; they could not have produced Shakespeare if it were not. He thought probably the talkies would drive people away from the mechanical entertainment houses to the true stage.

"We have," said Mr. Bamford, "in our hands, a weapon to counteract the effect of the talkies. I refer to the little theatre. I would like people to help in developing the growth of the little theatre. I am afraid it is not exploited to anything like the extent it might be. The majority of our affiliated societies spend huge sums annually on hiring theatres and trying to play in a perfectly professional manner. I do not agree with it. I think the money could be spent much better on the individual development of the little theatre movement."

The Little Theatre.

Speaking at the association's banquet in the evening Mr. Frank Bladen-Smith, of Manchester, declared that it was mad to say the theatre was dead. It may be in a parlous condition, he said, but it was neither dying nor sleeping. So far as the little theatre was concerned there was a great future before it. The educational value of the little theatre was enormous and therein lay its strength. It was amazing what talents the people belonging to the little theatre had.

BIG SENSATION IN VIENNA.

THOUSANDS OF RIFLES AND PISTOLS FOUND.

Vienna, November 5.—The electoral campaign to-day brought about a big sensation in the shape of a sudden search for arms in all offices of the Social Democrat Party throughout the country when, according to the government Press, there were found 4,000 rifles, 160 revolvers, 20 machine guns 100 hand grenades, 400,000 rounds of ammunition, several wireless transmitters and a number of field telephone stations.

It is significant that no parallel action was undertaken against the organizations of the Right which are known to be well equipped with arms of all sorts and that quarters close to the Minister of the Interior claim that these raids were only partly successful and that the number of arms actually found was comparatively small because some officials of the Ministry had warned the Social Democrat leaders in time to enable them to remove the greater part of the weapons to places of safety. These officials, it is said, will be dismissed and prosecuted for breach of official secrets. It is added that the search of the offices and homes of some prominent Social Democrat leaders to-day revealed the existence of a widespread plot aiming at subverting the army and police as well as detailed instructions for an armed rising including a complete manual for street warfare.

Counter-Revolution Threatened.

The opposition parties, on the other hand, maintain that all are merely idle stories spun for the purpose of supplying a pretext for prohibiting the Republican associations in order to influence the elections which are to take place on Sunday next. Besides, the reactionary Minister of the Interior, Prince Starhemberg, is credited with the intention of also issuing immediately a decree dissolving and prohibiting the Republican Protection League which is closely associated with Social Democrat Party. A number of commanders and officers of the gendarmes who are known to be adherents of the Republican groups have also been summarily dismissed and replaced by men connected with the reactionary parties.

Most of the newspapers, especially the Republican organs, appear in these days with large blank patches due to part of their reports and articles being blotted out by the censorship which the authorities introduced for the time of the election campaign. In spite of that to-day they openly sound an alarm, declaring that Premier Vaugoin and Minister of the Interior Prince Starhemberg aim at a Fascist counter-revolution irrespective of what the results of the general elections might be. In any case, the situation must be regarded as very serious.

QUIET PREVAILING IN AUSTRIA.

ARTILLERY MOUNTED TO AWE BELLIGERENTS.

Vienna, Nov. 6.—With the exception of Bruck where artillery has taken up positions dominating the town in order to overawe the Social Democratic population, calm prevails throughout the country after the excitement which was caused during the last few days by the searching of the Social Democratic party offices.

The leaders of the party however point out that the bulk of the arms were found in Tirol where there exists no legal prohibition of the possession of arms and that the weapons found were provided by the authorities themselves to the Republican organizations for purposes of national defence at the time when Tirol was disturbed by Italian threats.

Former German Chancellor Herrmann Mueller, addressing a mass meeting of Social Democrats in Vienna, expressed his full confidence that the Fascist waves which had overwhelmed Italy, Hungary and Jugoslavia would not reach Austria. He said that the Social Democratic Party just as it was and would be the case in the Reich.

CROWN LAND SALES.

THREE LOTS DISPOSED OF YESTERDAY.

There was a large number present at the Crown Land Office yesterday when three lots of land were offered for sale by Mr. L. C. Parker-Rees, Superintendent of Crown Lands.

The first lot, Inland Lot No. 3093, was sold to Mr. M. A. Xavier, architect, of Powell's Building for $43,500. Bidding started at $27,500 and by bids of $100 was raised to that amount. The land has an area of about 6,575 sq. feet and its annual rental is $40.

Kowloon Inland Lot No. 2407 was the next offered and was sold to Mr. Lau Kat of 159, Tai Nan Street for $33,300. The upset price was $20,200. The land is situated at the junction of Tai Nan Street and Popular Street and has an area of about 10,100 sq. feet. Its annual rental is $110.

The last lot, Kowloon Inland Lot No. 2408, with an area of about 18,000 sq. feet, was sold to Mr. Loke Yeung Cheung of 192, Queen's Road Central for $40,000. The upset price was $30,000. The land is situated at the junction of Sai Yee Street and has an annual rental of $306.

FRACAS IN CAFE.

TWO SOLDIERS BEFORE MAGISTRATE.

In consequence of a fracas which occurred at the On Lok Yuen Café between two soldiers and a waiter, on Saturday, Pte. Finnernan and Pte. Gallagher, of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders were brought before Mr. Williams at the Central Magistracy yesterday charged with disorderly conduct and with assaulting the waiter. Both accused pleaded "not guilty" to the charges.

Giving evidence, the waiter said that accused, after consuming two cups of ice-cream, attempted to leave the place without paying. While remonstrating with them, witness was struck on the face, and the glass top of the table as well as an electric bulb and lampshade were broken.

Finneran, in reply to the charge, stated that they did not attempt to leave the place without paying. He left a dollar on the table before he and Gallagher got up.

The hearing was adjourned till Wednesday, the accused being remanded in military custody.

"WHITE" RUSSIANS RAIDED IN HARBIN.

ORGANIZATIONS SUBJECT TO POLICE SEARCH.

The Chinese authorities in Harbin have raided several "White" Russian organizations, including the relief committees and a body calling itself the "Musketeers Union." In addition, the Chinese authorities searched the homes of two "White" Russian Generals residing in Harbin, Messrs. Voldchenko and Dardilovsky. Nothing of an incriminating nature was found as a result of the raids.

The "White" Russian paper, Znasky Slovo, which had been closed down for a week, has now been permitted to resume publication.

While no official statement regarding the purpose of the raids has been issued, it is understood here that the Government's action is in accord with present policy of eliminating from Chinese territory any organizations of a political nature, whether of the "White" Russians or of the Bolsheviks.

Professor Winifred Cullis, speaking to City girls at St. Stephen's Church, Walbrook last month, said: "I do earnestly hope that we are going to be strong-minded enough not to allow ourselves to be swayed in long skirts again. I shall be positively ashamed of women if they go back to long skirts. Don't let us let our women be led astray just down the road of the Social Democratic Party just as it was and would be the case in the Reich."

LEUNG OR YEUNG?

CURIOUS POINT IN HEALTH BUREAU CASE.

In connection with the re-hearing of the case against Kwok Chun Sing, a former manager of the Health Bureau in Wyndham Street, an interesting point as to whether Mr. A. W. G. H. Grantham, who heard the case at the outset, could have been mistaken over a question of surnames was brought up.

The case was taken before Mr. R. E. Lindell. Mr. M. K. Lo is prosecuting and Mr. F. X. d'Almada is for the defence.

A voucher for $320, alleged to be salary for a Mr. T. K. Leung is claimed by the prosecution to be a forged document.

Yesterday, an employee of the Bureau was called by the prosecution. In answer to Mr. Lo, witness said he had never heard of a Mr. T. K. Leung. Witness was then told by Mr. Lo that according to the depositions taken down by Mr. Grantham, witness had said that a Mr. T. K. Leung had been engaged in the Bureau for a few days. Witness told Mr. Lo that he said that a man named Yeung was employed for a few days and as far as witness could say no man named Leung had been so employed.

Mistake by Magistrate?

In answer to cross-examination by Mr. d'Almada, witness said that Magistrate must have made a mistake in taking down "Leung" for "Yeung."

Mr. d'Almada reminded him that in giving a list of names of employees of the Health Bureau witness made no mention of anyone named "Yeung." Witness replied that he left out Yeung's name because he was employed for only a few days.

Mr. d'Almada: Do you remember saying that "This man was not engaged but he simply came on visits?"

Witness: I did say that. I was, of course, referring to Yeung. The hearing was adjourned for a week.

MILLIONAIRE AS LEPER WORKER.

SENSATION IN JAPANESE SOCIETY CIRCLES.

Tokyo, November 7.—A sensation was caused in society circles to-day, when it was announced that Mr. Soichi Iwashita, the heir to the late Mr. Iwashita, multi-millionaire, was appointed President of a leper asylum, in Goto, which is maintained by the Catholic Church. Mr. Iwashita, the new head of the Goto leper Asylum, is a theological scholar and is a graduate of the Imperial University of Tokyo. After graduation from the university with high honours, he went to Europe and studied at the Louvain University, Belgium. He then continued his theological studies at the St. Edmund Theological Seminary in England and at the Angelico College in Italy. Since his return to Japan, he has been devoting himself to the management of the Fuji Farm, which is located near Mt. Fuji and which he inherited from his father. He is said to have declared his intention to devote his life to the social welfare work especially to work among the lepers.

"POPPY DAY."BROADCAST APPEAL BY HON. MR. SHENTON.OUR DUTY TO THOSE WHO ARE LEFT.

The following is the text of an appeal on behalf of Earl Haig's Fund which was broadcast last night by the Hon. Mr. W. E. L. Shenton:—

This time last year when I addressed you, on behalf of the Earl Haig British Legion Appeal Fund, in reference to the Poppy Day appeal, I dealt with the historical and symbolic aspect of this great national day of remembrance, this day in the year specially set apart for expressions of gratitude and thankfulness, when every true citizen offers up the prayer, "Give peace in our time, O Lord," and the "heart of man knoweth none more fragrant," thankfulness that for a space at least war is no more.

I gave you a short description of the Earl Haig British Legion Appeal Fund on whose behalf I am again appealing to you to-night; I mentioned the various associations and organisations which benefit by your contributions, all of which have as their principal object the assistance, in the form most needed, of those who by reason of their participation in the Great War require assistance, either themselves, or the dependants they have left behind. Jeremy Taylor wrote "God is pleased with no thanksgiving so much as the thanksgiving of relieved widows and supported orphans; of rejoicing, comforted and thankful persons."

A Special Effort.

I need not mention these objects again; the Earl Haig British Legion Appeal Fund and the manner of the distribution of its funds are well known to you, but I ask you to make a special effort this year, because as you will appreciate, our remittance is in sterling, consequently owing to the great drop in exchange, our dollar contributions must be far greater than in the past, if we are going to retain our position.

To-morrow, twelve years will have passed since the November 11, 1918, twelve long years, during which the nations of the world have been working to find a formula to make war impossible, to locate Geneva, the Pact of Paris and the various disarmament conferences. Should a solution of these great problems be found, the great sacrifices will not have been in vain, as Lord Balfour said, "Time, I trust, has softened the inevitable misery of separation, but no time can efface the outlines, or dim the writing, which records that their sons or their brothers have earned for themselves, the undying gratitude of those who know them best."

These are those who by fighting, and suffering, and losing their lives, in the greatest of all wars, have given us, and we hope, the world perpetual peace.

Twelve years may be a long time in the life of a man, but short in the memory of a nation. Recently when it was thought, owing to a misunderstanding, that no more national wreaths would be laid on the grave of the Unknown Warrior in Westminster Abbey, the British Nation indicated in no uncertain terms that the Unknown Warrior is not only not forgotten, but is a symbol of all who perished in the great cause by land or sea, and sound the reminder, all Britons express symbolically what is felt with regard to those who sacrificed their lives in the cause of their country.

Need Now Greater.

It might be thought that since twelve years have passed the need of funds might not be so great, but such is not the case; those who require your help to-day are those who need it most; some have ceased to need your help, but those who are left have suffered most.

To-morrow is the occasion for a special effort to insure that those who fought and are still with us, and the dependants of those who fell, are not only not forgotten, but are assisted in every possible way.

Armistice Day has been chosen as Poppy Day or the Day of Remembrance and the one great symbol, the poppy, grows.

"Between the crosses, row on row."

AVIATRIX LEAVING TO-DAY.MRS. BRUCE SLIGHTLY INJURED.RIDING MISHAP AT THE VALLEY.

An unfortunate accident befell the Hon. Mrs. Victor Bruce while out riding with His Excellency the Governor at Happy Valley yesterday. She stayed the night at Government House, intending to hop off to Amoy in the forenoon, but the resumption of the flight has had to be postponed, an overhaul of the Blackburn Bluebird being necessary, apart from the riding mishap to the aviatrix, which she treated very lightly.

While galloping along on the riding track, the pony suddenly pitched over, Mrs. Bruce being thrown rather heavily and cutting her left elbow in addition to hurting her left side. She was at the Flying Club later in the morning with a bandage over the elbow, which she jokingly remarked was placed there to prevent her getting lockjaw or something like that.

Birthday Greetings.

It happened that the day was a special one for Mrs. Bruce, as it was the anniversary of her birthday—a fact which she had forgotten while she was busily occupied in the arrangements for her flight. It was not until she received a cable conveying birthday greetings that she recollected the event. Among others, she received birthday cables from her husband, her little son, Tony, and his nurse.

Mrs. Bruce said that she had originally planned to spend her birthday in New York, but instead she was in Hong Kong, thanks to unavoidable delays attending her adventurous flight.

Future Arrangements.

Mrs. Bruce intends to leave at 8 a.m. to-day for Amoy, which she expects to reach in four hours. After refuelling with Shell products in the course of an hour, she hopes to continue the flight to Foochow which should take three hours.

From Foochow she hopes to hop off to Shanghai, and thence on to Hiroshima, which entails a hazardous crossing over the Yellow Sea, of which 550 miles out of the 700 miles is across water. From Hiroshima she will fly to Tokyo.

The machine has been booked for conveyance from Tokyo by a Canadian Pacific liner, Mrs. Bruce also travelling as a passenger, as a flight across the Pacific is not possible owing to the restricted fuel capacity. Mrs. Bruce will fly again from Vancouver to San Francisco, and then on to Indiana, where she is keenly looking forward to seeing her mother again.

Arrangements from this stage are not definite, but Mrs. Bruce hopes to make her trip a round-the-world event, with England, probably Heston Aerodrome, where she started from on September 25, as the finishing point of the flight.

NOT CALLING AT FOOCHEW.

[THROUGH BROTHER'S AGENCY.]

FOOCHEW, Nov. 10.
At the instigation of the British Consul the officials have offered every facility to Mrs. Victor Bruce, but the local aerodrome is not suitable therefore she is not calling at Foochow.

CANTON-WUCHOW AIR SERVICE.

TO START THIS MONTH.

According to a Canton report, preparations are under way by the Aviation Bureau for the inauguration of a civil air service between Canton and Wuchow. Plans for the service were recently drafted and have been submitted to the Provincial Government for approval.

In an interview with Press representatives, the Chief of Staff of the Aviation Bureau said that the Canton-Wuchow service is expected to begin by the end of the present month. The Canton-Wuchow and Canton-Peking services will be originally decided that the fare from Canton to Wuchow should be $30, but the Government has now decided to reduce it to $20.

TRAFFIC SUMMONS PROTEST.MR. T. H. R. BRAYFIELD ON ALLEGED IRREGULARITIES.

TO APPEAL AGAINST FINE.

That the Police had served the summonses in an irregular manner was alleged by Mr. T. H. R. Brayfield, when he was summoned for having allowed his motor car No. 324 to cause an obstruction in Salisbury Road on October 16. The case came before Mr. H. R. Butters at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday, and at the commencement of the hearing Mr. Brayfield asked leave for an appeal should the Magistrate decide against him.

Mr. Brayfield: I plead "Not guilty." I wish to protest against certain irregularities in the serving of the summonses.

Magistrate: What is your objection?

Mr. Brayfield: The Police have entirely failed to carry out the regulations. The first point I refer to is the delay of 11 days in getting the summons signed. The alleged offence occurred on October 16, and the summons was signed on October 27. Another 11 days elapsed before the summons was delivered. It was delivered on November 7, in the afternoon, at my office.

Magistrate: In Hong Kong?

Mr. Brayfield: Obviously in Hong Kong.

What is Meant by Usual Abode? Defendant further pointed out a clause in the summons laid down that it should be delivered at one's usual abode. He said "I have got a directory here. My residence is at Taiipo, not at Queen's Buildings, Hong Kong."

Magistrate: Were you in the office at the time?—No. The particular point I wish to raise is that the summons was left at the wrong place. I am here to attend the summons which was left illegally at the wrong place, and not at my abode.

Magistrate: As for the delay, the Police are not to blame. If anybody is to be blamed it is the Magistrate's staff. In your case it is owing to the large number of summonses that have to be issued that caused the delay.—In view of the fact that there is no satisfactory attempt to provide parking space at the ferry circus and your over-ruling the objection raised by me, I propose to apply for leave to appeal and for the case to be re-heard in the higher court.

On what grounds do you propose to appeal?—Wrongful service of the summons.

I rule against you on that point—I will ask for leave to appeal.

Magistrate: You can bring that point up, if it arises.

Traffic Sergeant Clarke, giving evidence, said that at 11.20 p.m. on October 16 he was on patrol at Salisbury Road. Outside the Kowloon Godowns gate he noticed the rear portion of private motor car No. 324 parked outside the white lines. At 11.50 p.m. Sergeant Clarke was again at the same place and observed that the vehicle was still there. Later he telephoned Mr. Brayfield and told him that there would be a summons against him.

Mr. Brayfield drew his Worship's attention to page 33, item 23, of the Vehicles and Traffic Regulations, which referred to the parking space in question. He maintained that even if his car was slightly outside the white lines it did not obstruct any vehicle or person.

Inside the White Lines.

Sergeant Clarke pointed out that regarding the regulation quoted by Mr. Brayfield, there was an amendment regarding the parking space in question, which was substituted by another plot of ground outside the Fire Station.

Mr. Brayfield: It is still in use. I made use of that space to-day.

Magistrate (to Sergeant Clarke): Are people allowed to park there at present?

Sergeant Clarke: Yes. But they must be inside the white line.

Mr. Brayfield: Then the Police are permitting the offence by allowing people to park there.

Magistrate: Witness says that the Police allow cars to remain within the white lines.

STONEMASONS'
FUED.GUILD MEMBERS FIGHT WITH CHOPPERS.

HEAVY SENTENCES.

The jealousy on the part of an old-established guild of stonemasons of a newer but probably better organised guild was recounted before Mr. E. H. Williams at Central Magistracy yesterday, when two members of the older guild were charged with causing grievous bodily harm to four men.

Detective Sergeant Ritchie, who prosecuted, said that the four complainants in the case were masons who worked on the Praya East Reclamation. At about 5.45 p.m. on October 23 a party of five men raided their matchless. The intruders, who were all armed with choppers, set about the inmates, injuring all of them.

The following day, as a result of information received, the first defendant was arrested in Yau-mati, and later the second defendant was also arrested.

Strong Triad Element.

"The immediate cause of the assault is obscure," said Sergeant Ritchie, "but there is no doubt a strong triad element is in it and it is apparently a feud of long standing between the two societies."

His Worship: I understand they belong to rival stonemason guilds?

Sergeant Ritchie: Yes. One is a fairly long-standing one and the other is newly-formed.

Did the defendants belong to the long-standing one or to the newly formed one?—They belonged to the former.

And the complainants belong to the new guild?—I would not go so far as to say that.

After hearing the evidence his Worship said he found the charges proved. He considered the offence a very serious one and sentenced each defendant to six months' hard labour.

ADULTERATED MILK.CHINESE CHARGED AT KOWLOON.

In a case in which Tsang Tong was charged before Mr. H. R. Butters at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday with possession of adulterated milk, and with having offered a bribe to an Indian constable, Mr. E. R. Dovey, the Government Analyst, gave interesting evidence regarding the proportion of water found in the milk. He said that three of the bottles contained about half water, eleven contained one-third water, and one contained water with a little milk in it. The caps of the bottles had been tampered with.

Evidence was given by Wong Chi, the owner of the Chi Kee Dairy, who stated that the defendant was employed by her to deliver milk. He had no authority to wash the bottles. Any washing to be done had to be carried out by the folks in the dairy when the bottles were returned.

After his Worship had heard further evidence from the foreman of the dairy, he decided to convict and fined the defendant $100 or ten weeks' imprisonment on the first charge, and $25 or three weeks' on the second.

Mr. Brayfield: I did not know anything of the amendment. I only bought the book (Vehicles and Traffic Regulations) a week ago. From item 23 on page 33, under regulation 17, you will see that I did not obstruct a vehicle or person on the road and don't see what offence is committed. There is no offence; we are allowed to park there.

Magistrate: The Police say you did not park within the white lines.

Mr. Brayfield: But the rules distinctly say...

Magistrate: Your book is out of date.

Mr. Brayfield: Well, in that case I am ruled out.

You bought it a week ago, and it was not amended?—No.

You are proceeding further than I.—No. I am not proceeding further, but that book is a Government book.

Magistrate: I will convict. Fined $100 or ten weeks' imprisonment.

Mr. Brayfield: Yes.

Magistrate: I think you will have to appeal in writing. You have a week to do it in.

LORRY RUNS INTO BUS.DRIVER SEVERELY INJURED.

A motor accident in which the driver of a lorry was severely cut about the face occurred near the bus stop outside the Police Club, Happy Valley, shortly after 2 p.m. yesterday.

The vehicles involved were one of the Hotel Company's buses and a lorry. The bus pulled up at a stop and a few seconds later the passenger felt a jolt and saw that a lorry had run into the bus.

The driver of the lorry was badly cut about the face by the splintered windshield, and was bleeding freely. Three Indian gentlemen, who were travelling on the bus, rendered first aid until another lorry arrived which removed the man to hospital. One noticeable feature of the case was that although repeated telephone messages were sent through for the ambulance, none arrived on the scene up to the time the man was conveyed to hospital.

As a result of the smash, the back part of the bus was badly dented, and the right rear mud-guard twisted, while the number plate was cut in two. As regards the lorry, the radiator and bonnet was pushed right in and twisted round to the left, the head lights and lower part of the windshield being reduced to smithereens.

WEDDING AT ROSARY CHURCH.

ROZARIO-DEMEE.

At the Rosary Church, Kowloon, on Sunday, Henriette Marie Louise Demeé was married to Arthur Cornelio Rozario, the Very Rev. Father G. M. Spada officiating at the ceremony.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. Clement Demeé, was attired in a dress of white georgette, with Chantilly lace, and carried a bouquet of white roses and Honolulu creepers. Misses Olga and Thelma Rozario attended as bridesmaids, dressed in salmon pink georgette. The flower girls were the Misses Aida and Marie Rozario.

Mr. A. E. S. Alves was the "best man," and Mr. E. M. Bozario discharged the duties of groomsmen.

A reception was held at the Club de Recreo, followed by a dance, the couple later leaving for the Repulse Bay Hotel for their honeymoon.

GOVERNMENT METHODS OF DISINFECTION.DR. KOCH'S QUESTIONS TO SANITARY BOARD.

At the meeting of the Sanitary Board to be held to-morrow, Dr. W. V. M. Koch, pursuant to notice, will ask the following questions:—Will the Head of the Sanitary Department kindly give information on the following matters regarding the Disinfecting Stations in Victoria and in Kowloon.

1.—What is the method of Disinfection employed?
2.—(a) How are articles especially bedding, clothing, etc., from infectious cases taken to and returned from the station? (b) Is there a special gang of coolies employed? (c) Are special vans employed for such conveyance?
3.—Is every care taken to ensure that no damage is done to the articles sent for disinfection?

4.—Is it known as a fact that articles of clothing, bedding, mattresses, etc., have been found to be destroyed or damaged when returned after disinfection, and is it likely this has been done during the process of disinfection?
5.—Have any complaints been made, or any claims for compensation been sent in for destroyed or damaged property?

6.—Is the process of disinfection carried out carefully and under experienced supervision?

WEAR A FLANDERS POPPY.

IN FLANDERS FIELDS.

In Flanders field the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below.

We are the Dead. Short days ago,
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders Fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe;
To you from falling hands we throw
This torch; be yours to hold it high;
If ye break faith with us who die,
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders Fields.

The foe to be met to-day by ex-service men consists of physical disability, trade depression and consequent unemployment. This distress is shared by their dependants. Take up this quarrel by giving a little more for your Poppy than you did last year

THE TWELFTH ANNIVERSARY.

THE twelfth anniversary of Armistice Day finds the world still suffering acutely from distresses arising directly or indirectly from the Great War. Many of these troubles continue because the nations have not abandoned the idea of war.

The men who lined the trenches and served the guns say freely that they have had enough of it and will leave any future fighting to the younger generation. Whether they express these sentiments sincerely or derisively is not always clear, but it is very certain that war veterans often give voice to those international dislikes and suspicions, especially against former allies, which lay the foundations of further conflict. Idle talk and hasty writing in the press, more than deliberate malice, preserve an atmosphere of distrust, which forces governments to put their faith in armaments, and prevents a full healing of the political wounds inflicted in the war.

Twelve years of peace among the Great Powers has not been long enough to allay the mental stress and disturbance arising from the four years of war. Ever since the Armistice there have been restless longings for an unobtainable Utopia, a wide acceptance of the economic heresies of socialism and a distaste for life as most of us have to live it. Many of the men and women who took part in the struggle cannot settle down to steady work for a limited objective, and only the rude awakening of the menace of unemployment in all industrial countries is at last forcing men from dreams to truth. These things are the aftermath of war. They are phenomena as old as history, but they are now being enfolded on a larger and more complex scale than ever in the past.

So alarming are many of the ills of the European body politic that pessimists are already declaring that Western civilization is in danger of going down amid a welter of mass folly unexampled since the Roman mob was fed at the public expense and entertained with the blood sports of the arena.

But despite everything that can be said against modern life, we believe that the balance is on the right side. The loudest storm is not the great danger to a well-ordered society. It is the danger of a soundness in Europe which are forgotten by those who fear the worst. The World Revolution planned by the Nihilists of Russia, and their thousands of traitorous agents, has failed. MUSSOLINI killed it in Italy, the General Strike was its death-blow in Britain, the great Communist conspiracy in Japan of a couple of years ago was crushed, and CHIANG KAI SHEK roughly bundled the Bolshevik mission out of China. Threats and recommitments there have been between the Powers but nothing comparable to the crises which periodically shook the nerves of Europe in the years before August, 1914. Behind political wrangling looms the sure knowledge that civilization cannot stand, and men will not tolerate another great war. Revolution follows in the train of war: it eats up not only kings and statesmen but the educated classes who hold the knowledge that alone can build the road towards security and material progress.

But war will not bring lasting peace. Armaments lead to war. General staff watches general staff, preparations go forward, and though the object may be defence no soldier forgets the great strategic principle that attack is the best form of defence. War training will produce with the new generation its would-be Napoleons, who see their way clear, thanks to new methods and inventions, to swift victory over rivals, and, perhaps the conquest of the world. At the moment we know that the vision of war lords, from Ramesses the Great to Field Marshal LUDENDORF is a will-of-the-wisp. The Empires founded by conquerors die with them, but generally there is a "miracle of the Marne," a St. Joan or a Charles Martel to roll back the invader.

But men untrained in the chances of real warfare forget these things. Only an international amity that refuses to tolerate the weapons of potential conquest can secure peace.

In the modern world it is the snippings of the civilian that clear the way for the advance of the aggressor. We have all met the man who knows the plans of the Japanese General Staff, that Republican Germany is as anxious for revenge as the Kaiser was for conquest, that America means mischief, that Perfidious Albion is up to her old games! Military advisers are seldom pure of success, kings and statesmen generally want peace, but there is a type of talker and writer ready to proclaim that his country is in peril, that her statesmen are failing her, that now is the time, if not to strike, at least to take a firm stand against designing foreigners. Peace has, in fact, become the charge of each one of us, and nowhere more than in cosmopolitan Hong Kong. If we cannot speak well of a nation let us at least keep silence, and not condemn it either on hearsay evidence or because we do not like the manners of some individual citizen, who is neither its political head nor one of its responsible staff officers.

AIR TRAVEL AND ROMANCE.

HONG KONG was delighted to welcome that very skilful and courageous Englishwoman, the Hon. Mrs. VIVIAN BRUCE, and our only regrets are that her visit was so short. This morning she will leave for Amoy, and everyone will wish her the best of luck for the remainder of her adventurous flight to Japan.

But the perils of her journey, with its delays and the many incidents which might have led to disaster but for the high capacity of the aviatrix, show that long distance flight is still in its infancy. Mrs. BRUCE left England on September 25, and, very rightly, she took as few risks as possible. She waited when she could for settled weather between the stages, but meteorology is not an exact science and she experienced "frightful weather" at Frankfurt and again, after leaving Jask for Siam. Shortage of fuel compelled a halt at Aleppo, oil trouble developed on the way to Karachi, and necessitated a difficult landing in 4000 ft. It was here that Mrs. BRUCE was rescued by the Baluchi tribesmen without, on this occasion, having to sing and dance to them. It is true that they failed to deliver a message to Jask asking for help, but they were only too willing to assist on the spot, though their willingness out-ran their skill.

There are many epic phrases in the account kindly given by Mrs. BRUCE to our representative. "I sat on top of the plane in case the tigers should come. After studying my maps while the storm raged, I took off again and found a landing ground at Lakone in Siam." Later she saw a "pirate-ship flying a red flag and full of men with red handkerchiefs round their necks. I climbed higher in case they might try to get a shot at me. . . . At Hanoi I was entertained at a banquet and decorated with the Medal of a Million Elephants and the White Umbrella." It reads like a page out of the Arabian Nights.

But the thrills and the adventures, the need for the highest courage, resource and technical skill, show that we are a long way off a regular air service to Hong Kong. The Indian Air Mail runs fairly successfully but the country beyond India includes some of the most difficult in the world. Mrs. BRUCE travels as Draka and Abusqueque voyaged, pushing on as best she can. But out of the adventures of fifteenth and sixteenth century explorers have grown the ordered shipping services which make a voyage between England and China safe, if not so picturesque as in the past.

The M.C.C. team, under the captaincy of A.P.R. CHAPMAN, which left England recently, in the Union Castle liner, Edinburgh Castle, for South Africa, was as follows:—A. P. F. CHAPMAN (captain), J. C. WHITE (vice-captain), M. J. C. ALLEN, R. E. S. WYKE, M. J. TURNBULL, I. A. R. PEEBLES, DUCKWORTH, FARRIMOND, GODDARD, HAMMOND, HENDERSON, LEYLAND, SANDHAM, TATE, and VOCE.

The German press warmly welcomes the announcement that the Swedish Academy has decided to award this year's Nobel prize for Literature to the American novelist, Sinclair Lewis, whose books attained great popularity in Germany many years ago. The author himself has been a frequent guest for extended periods. This is the 30th time that this prize has been awarded and that the recipients so far include 5 Germans, 5 Frenchmen, 2 Englishmen, 3 Norwegians, 2 Swedes, Danes, Italians, Spaniards, and Poles and 1 Irishman, Swiss, Belgian and Indian.

A notable departure in the history of German trade unionism occurred at Berlin last Wednesday when at a conference of 1,000 delegates from most of Berlin's metal works it was unanimously decided to found a German Metal Workers Union under Radical influence and in opposition to the existing metal workers union which the extremists accuse of having been too weak-kneed in the recent strike. This foundation threatens to split up German trade unionism on the model of France where in most industries two rival unions oppose each other, a moderate Socialist one and another of more radical tendencies.

The German Liberal press widely discusses the postponement of the Arabs executive committee of a definite reply to the British White Book on Palestine and the demonstrations and declarations of protest made by the Zionist organizations all over the world, including even the Far East. The papers express the hope that the British Government will find a way out of the deadlock thus created and a solution of the distinctly difficult problem which apparently was even further aggravated by the rather sharp criticism directed against the British administration by the League of Nations mandate commission, the attitude of the latter being in this case very much different from the stand it usually takes in similar questions and apparently badly hurt British feelings.

In the State dining room of Buckingham Palace last Tuesday night the King Emperor, accompanied by the Queen, entertained to a banquet the Indian Ruling Princes and Chiefs who are in London to attend the Round Table Conference. The scene was a magnificent one, all the Princes being attired in the robes of ceremony. The guests numbered 80 and included, in addition to the Indian Princes, the Queen of Spain, the Prince of Wales, the Duke and Duchess of York, and other members of Royal families.

DORNIER "DO-X" FLIGHT.*ADVENTUROUS VOYAGE STARTED.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 10. The German flying-boat "DO-X" which had been held up here for some time left for Calshot at 10.20 this morning but soon returned to Zuiderzee owing, it is believed, to engine trouble, and restarted at 11.45 a.m.

LATER. The German flying-boat "DO-X" is carrying a crew of fifteen, consisting of ten Germans, two Swiss and three Americans. There are also 21 passengers of which eight are Germans including the designer, Herr Dornier and his wife; three Americans and one Englishwoman, Lady Drummond Hay; six Dutch one of which is a woman. There are also on board two Dutch flying officers, two Italian officers and one Yugo-Slav officer.

The flying-boat has two tons of reserve material aboard for repairs en route; ten thousand litres of petrol and three hundred litres of oil which is sufficient for 9½ hours' continuous flying in fine weather.

R.101 WRECKAGE.*CONTRACT FOR REMOVAL.

Paris, October 17.—A British firm, Messrs. Thomas W. Ward (Limited), of Sheffield, has contracted for the removal and disposal of the wreckage of the airship R.101.

Although none of the wreckage is likely to be used again for its original purpose, the skeleton of R.101 has a value as scrap metal. The main frames of the airship were fully stressed—i.e., they were designed to be rigid without depending on wire bracing—and to obtain this condition an unusually complex structure was necessary, with the result that the weight of metal used was much more, in proportion, than that in earlier airships, and much more than that in the R.100, which is nearly as large. About 25 per cent. of the framework was made of steel instead of duralumin, and there were many miles of steel wire in the ship in the shape of gasbag nettings, girder bracings, and the bracings of secondary structures, such as the cabins. The total cost of the airship was about £500,000, but the value of this metal in her would naturally be very much less.

The five engines are probably more or less intact, except for the melting of external aluminium parts, such as valve covers, but they again cannot be of much use now except as scrap metal. They were Bendmore heavy oil engines of 650-horse power, each with eight vertical cylinders in line. They were very heavy—over 8 lbs. per horse power—a disadvantage which is still to some extent inseparable from the use of heavy oil, owing to the very high pressure required, though in this case it was probably aggravated by the design, since with eight cylinders in line the crank-shaft and crank-cases are bound to be long and heavy. They had the advantage of dispensing with volatile fuel and with electrical ignition, and a feature of their design was that they were cooled by steam, the water in the cylinder-jackets being allowed to boil and the steam afterwards being recondensed.

A message from Beauvais says that a quantity of articles, such as clothing and trunks belonging to the occupants of R.101, had been found in the wreckage. These have been sent to the Air Ministry, with exact indications of the position of each in the wreckage.

CABINET RESIGNATIONS DENIED.*PRIME MINISTER'S STATEMENT.

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

RUGBY, Nov. 9. The report, widely circulated yesterday, of the impending resignation of the Chancellor of the ex-Chequer, Mr. Philip Snowden, the First Lord of the Admiralty, Mr. W. Alexander, and the Secretary for India, Mr. Wedgwood Benn, is officially denied. A communiqué issued last night from No. 40, Downing Street, says:—

"The Prime Minister has been informed over the telephone at Chequers that a London paper publishes statements regarding the attitude of three of his colleagues in the Cabinet to the recently published Liberal memorandum on unemployment. He authorises the statement that the suggestion that the Cabinet are divided on this issue is quite untrue. Moreover, neither by personal representations nor by letter from any quarter has such communication as is indicated in the newspaper been made to him, and the first he had heard of it was when he was informed of the publication of the article.

"A Deliberate Invention."

"The story about a Cabinet split on Mr. Lloyd George's proposals is a deliberate invention from beginning to end. There is not an item of truth in the statement, nor shadow of foundation for any of the references made to myself."

Mr. Alexander said: "I know nothing of this alleged crisis and I feel certain that my other colleagues know nothing about it."

Mr. George Lansbury, First Commissioner of Works, speaking in Derbyshire last night, said that on the broad basic principles of policy there was no disagreement in the Cabinet at all. All the talk of a break was nonsense. "There is not likely to be a general election under three years, for we shall not resign until we are turned out, and I don't think that will happen, because the opposition cannot agree."

GERMAN METAL WORKERS' DISPUTE.*EFFECTS OF WAGE REDUCTION.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

BERLIN, Nov. 10. Considerable importance is attached to the agreed three per cent. reduction in the metal workers' wages which will reach eight per cent. in 1931.

As anticipated, the first stage in the movement which will have wide-spread results in Europe, the reduction is considered to foreshadow a general lowering of wages with an accompanying decrease in the cost and sale prices of German industrial products in competition with those of other nations.

Steps are similarly being taken which are aimed at a reduction in the price of food but obstacles are being encountered with regard to wheat and frozen meat. Metal manufacturers are already reducing their prices.

INDIAN ROUND TABLE CONFERENCE.*ALL DELEGATIONS NOW IN LONDON.

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

All the delegates to the Indian Round Table Conference have now assembled in London, the Maharajah of Patiala, Chancellor of the Chamber of Princes, having arrived yesterday from Paris.

Eighty-six delegates, of whom sixteen will represent the Princes, fifty-seven British India and thirteen the British Parliament, will meet on Wednesday in the Royal Gallery of the House of Lords of the formal opening of the Conference by the King.

The King and Queen received the Indian delegates to the Conference at Buckingham Palace yesterday. The delegates were presented by Captain Wedgwood Benn, Secretary for India.

Much Interest Shown Throughout Empire.

RUGBY, Nov. 10.

Great interest, not only in Britain and India, but throughout the Empire is being taken in the Indian Round Table Conference which opens in London this week, and which the King Emperor will inaugurate at noon on Wednesday with a broadcast speech in the Royal Gallery in the House of Lords.

The purpose of the conference is to seek the "greatest possible measure of agreement for the final proposals which it will later be the duty of His Majesty's Government to submit to Parliament."

The conference will be attended by 57 representatives of British India and 10 representatives of Indian states, while representatives of the British Parliament drawn from Labour, Conservative and Liberal ranks number 15.

Several high officials including Governors of two provinces, Sir Malcolm Hailey and Sir Charles Innes, are attending in a consultative capacity.

The conference will be in the words of the Viceroy of India, "Free to approach its task greatly assisted indeed, but with liberty unimpaired, by the report of the Statutory Commission or by any other document which will be before it."

Among these and other documents will be a long despatch giving the view of the Government of India on the Statutory Commission's Report and this, as announced in the House of Commons, will be made public.

After the opening ceremony, the Conference will begin its sittings at St. James' Palace. Preparatory meetings of the Indian states delegation and the British Indian delegation and of various committees are being held.

THE LORD MAYOR'S SHOW.*PAGEANT OF THE EMPIRE.

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

RUGBY, Nov. 10.

The Lord Mayor's show which is one of oldest of London's civic pageants was held to-day when the new Lord Mayor, Sir Phene Neill, rode through the City in the famous gilt coach. He was the central figure in the procession of City dignitaries, soldiers, sailors, hands and representatives of City livery companies.

This year the procession took the form of a pageant of the Empire and included to the delight of the onlookers, four elephants carrying howdahs representing Mohammedan buildings, and Hindu temples, signifying India and special displays representing Canada, South Africa, New Zealand, the Irish Free State and Newfoundland.

Great crowds watched the progress from the Guild Hall to the law courts.

BRILLIANT SCENE IN HOUSE OF PEERS.

Brilliant ceremony marked the scene at the House of Lords when Sir William Phene Neill, London's new Lord Mayor, heard from the Lord Chancellor (Lord Sankey) that the King had approved his appointment as chief magistrate of the City.

The reception in the Princes' Chamber was one of magnificence in its setting and colouring. The women present looked almost drab beside the men, most of whom were resplendent in their gowns or uniforms.

There was the Lord Chancellor in his gold-embroidered black robe, the Recorder of the City of London (Sir Ernest Wild) in his scarlet gown and full-bottomed wig, the City Marshal (Captain D. Massey) in his uniform of scarlet and gold, aldermen in their robes of purple and gold, and other City officials.

Sir William Phene Neill was introduced to Lord Sankey by the Recorder, and Lord Sankey announced the King's approval of the appointment of the new Lord Mayor.

Great Achievement.

Then each drank from a loving cup decorated with lilies of the valley, and the Lord Chancellor toasted the new Lord Mayor in the following words: "Success, health, and prosperity, my Lord Mayor."

They then exchanged cups, and Sir William toasted the Lord Chancellor.

The Recorder, in presenting Sir William, reviewed his public life, and said: "Perhaps his greatest achievement was the herculean task of helping to remove the embargo upon the importation of Canadian store cattle, whereby he rendered service both to agriculture—in all branches of which he is an expert—and the Empire to which he is devoted."

"The Lord Mayor elect will be handicapped by being deprived of the use of the Mansion House during his year of office, but with public spirit he feels that the time has arrived when the City's historic home should be vacated for removal and embellishment."

"The twelve great companies and others have placed their halls at his disposal so that the hospitality for which the Lord Mayor of London is famous may remain undiminished."

JAPANESE NAVAL EXPENDITURE.*MINISTERS OF NAVY AND FINANCE AGREE.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

TOKYO, Nov. 10.

Following long drawn out discussions between the Minister of Finance and the Minister for the Navy, it was announced to-day that a tentative agreement has been reached to appropriate Yen 373,000,000 to be spread over a period of six years, for the naval replenishment programme.

The balance of Yen 132,000,000 of the five hundred million yen which theoretically would accrue to the Navy Departments as a result of the London Naval Treaty, will be used to ease the burdens of taxation.

Under the tentative agreement reached, Yen 100,000,000 will be appropriated for the construction of vessels covered by the Treaty, and Yen 63,000,000 for vessels outside the limitation agreement.

Yen 90,000,000 will be allotted to the expansion and maintenance of the Naval Air Force, including the provision of twelve additional squadrons, giving a total of twenty-nine.

Another Yen 60,000,000 will be allotted to the modernisation and maintenance of capital ships, while Yen 5,000,000 will be used for the establishment of an aviation laboratory.

Minor alterations are expected before the agreement receives the final approval of the Cabinet.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, Nov. 9. An assurance that Australia will strictly honour her financial obligations was given by Mr. J. H. Scullin, the Australian Prime Minister, in a statement issued in London to-day.

Mr. Scullin declares that nothing will induce the Australian Government to adopt a policy of deliberately deferring the payment of maturing loans.

They must be met at due date. Any other course would be disastrous to Australian credit and would delay for years the restoration of their economic prosperity.

The Government will meet its obligations.

Mr. Scullin is confident that any Australian Government which failed to do so, would lose the support of the Australian people.

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

RUGBY, Nov. 9. In view of the developments in Australia the tour of the Australian Prime Minister in the West of England was curtailed, and he returned to London yesterday to consult his colleagues, the Attorney-General, Mr. Macdonnell, and the Minister of Markets, Mr. Molloy, who with Mr. Scullin, are Australian delegates to the Imperial Conference.

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 9.—Mr. Paul Linebarger, adviser to the National Government of China, conferred to-day with Senator Reed Smoot of Utah.

He declined, however, to discuss the China silver loan proposal until the question has been submitted to President Hoover.

Considerable uncertainty exists here as to Mr. Linebarger's exact status in making his present visit to the United States, in view of the recent dispatch from the Kuo Min News Agency in Shanghai quoting the statement by Mr. T. V. Soong, Finance Minister, to the effect that loans are not being sought.

OBITUARY.*DEATH OF GENERAL BLISS.

[REUTER'S AMERICAN SERVICE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.

The death has occurred of General Tasker Bliss, former Chief of Staff of the United States Army, who had been ill for some days. He was 70 years of age.

General Bliss graduated from a Military Academy in 1875, joining an Artillery Regiment in June of that year. He was promoted Captain in 1892 and Major in 1899, and served in the Porto Rican campaign as Chief of Staff. He became colonel of the 1st Cavalry and was promoted to Major-General in 1902. He was also a member of the American Peace Delegation.

GREYHOUND RACING.*SENSATION IN SHANGHAI.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

SHANGHAI, Nov. 10.

A sensation has been created by the publication in local newspapers of a full-page advertisement in which the directors of the Greyhound Racing Association embody a lengthy statement purporting to explain the true position relative to dog racing. They reproduce the correspondence exchanged between the Municipal Council and the greyhound interests which only commenced operations after full authority and approval had been accorded by the authorities, who were fully aware of their intention to operate a pari-mutuel.

The statement accuses the Municipality of misrepresenting the position and suggests that there is nothing criminal about dog racing according to British law.

Mr. Fessenden, Director-General of the Municipal Council, when interviewed rebutted the statements and pointed out that if the foreign community wished to retain the predominant control in the administration of Foreign Settlements and desired the continued support for three principal Powers, Britain, America and Japan, they must prove to the world that the Settlement is something better than a Monte Carlo.

If the public considered gambling more important than the Settlement's future then he had nothing more to say.

Paris, November 4.—M. Joseph Denais, Deputy of Paris, has intimated to the Minister of Foreign Affairs the difficulties with which French missionaries in China are meeting in their efforts to enjoy the benefits of the Sino-French Treaty. He received the following reply: "I beg to inform you that the representative of the French Government at Peiping has received instructions to use all the means in his power to do away with the troubles connected with the civil war and to obtain assurance from the Chinese authorities of their respect for the treaties in favour of the missionaries."

RENEWAL OF STEEL CARTEL.*CONTINENTAL GROUPS STUDYING POSSIBILITY.

Brussels, Nov. 6.—The French, German and Belgian groups in the steel cartel have exchanged views regarding the situation up to December 1931 and the possibility of renewing the cartel in 1931. They have agreed on the general principles and have appointed a commission of three delegates to continue the examination. The eventual reduction of French production constitutes the most delicate question and one which is attracting the greatest attention on the part of the cartel.

That French gambling casinos have lost £400,000 this summer, according to official figures, will present a pretty little problem. For if the casinos lose and the visitors lose, who is it who wins? M. André, who has been described as the "king of the French casinos," once declared that his patrons were all fools and that he lived by their folly. He certainly sank £200,000 of his own money into the game. Baile, and was worth at that time at least a couple of million pounds. Can it be that the day of casino kings is over?

CRICKET NOTES.

SURVEY OF THE WEEK-END MATCHES.

[By "L.B.W."]

The sudden change in the weather made cricket rather hot work last Saturday, especially for the sides who had to field first. The wickets were very hard with the result that the ball kept jumping over the stumps and all over the place generally, giving the batsmen an uncomfortable time.

After playing three league matches running on their own ground, the Indians went over to the R.A.S.C. plot and just managed to win on time. The soldiers battled first but were painfully slow in getting the runs, taking about two hours to collect 93. The majority of their batsmen are more or less of the stonewalling type, and unless they play more enterprising cricket, they will have more drawn matches than not when the season closes.

The matting wicket was exceptionally hard, and while some of the deliveries jumped right over the slips, one or two did not rise an inch, and two of the soldiers were unfortunate in falling victims to the latter type. The I.R.C. bowling was changed very frequently so that the soldiers had little or no chance of settling down, though one or two of them did stay a little too long for their score.

I must congratulate M. R. Abbas, the I.R.C. medium-fast bowler, on performing the "hat-trick." He is bowling very well just at the moment, and in my opinion, is one of the few bowlers in the junior division who "bowls with his head." On his present form, he is certainly worth his place in their senior team, and I should not be at all surprised to see him promoted in the very near future.

The Indians started their innings at 4.30 p.m., and as the time for drawing in November is 6 o'clock, they had to go for the runs right from the start. This they did though one or two of their number were very slow and a faulty decision by their own umpire at the closing stages might have had very serious bearing on the ultimate result. However, they managed to wipe off the deficit with two wickets in hand. The soldiers kept on changing the field every now and then, and this reduced the already short space of time in which the league leaders had to get the runs.

Thanks to a fine batting display by A. P. Gutierrez, Recreio took full points from the Police though I must confess I expected the latter to get more than 100 runs. It was good to see King turning out again for he certainly is a tower of strength to the Police XI. Hunter, who usually gets somewhere between twenty and thirty runs, disappointed with a "duck," but I really cannot understand why their skipper sent B. G. Baker out to open the innings. An opening bowler is not necessarily an opening bat as well.

Another close game was seen on the Orange Grove C.C. ground when the Hong Kong Cricket Club took full points from the home team in an exceptionally low-scoring match. The C.C.C. played S. Abbas who, I believe, one of their first eleven bowlers, but I cannot say whether he has had an "Irishman's rise" or not. Anyway, he did not do anything very astounding. While I am on this subject, I shall be glad if any of my readers can tell me whether there is any rule forbidding a man who has turned out for the senior team of his Club in league matches from playing for the second.

P. H. Tan, of the University, was in amazing form with the ball, capturing seven of the Royal Corps of Signals' wickets for just two runs each.

The friendly match between Civil Service Cricket Club juniors and the Kowloon second XI proved very interesting, and up till the end it was anybody's game. The home team, however, managed to pull off a win by the narrow margin of seven runs. I noticed that A. E. Wood and B. C. K. Hawkins turned out for Civil Service, and if they should play regularly for them, the team would be one which would have to be seriously reckoned with.

According to the few fixtures which I have with me, the Civil Service and the University will play on Saturday at Happy Valley. They should have no difficulty in winning.

HOW WHEATCROFT WON.

SEVEN PONIES IN SHANGHAI CHAMPIONS.

SLOW PACE THROUGHOUT.

The following account of the Shanghai Champions, together with the winning and other numbers of the "A" and "B" Sweeps, appeared in the North China Daily News of November 6:—

Yesterday was far from being an ideal Champions day, for there was little sun and much, and very cold, wind. However, it was dry, the going was good, and, as the principal event was admitted on all hands to be a very open race, there was a very big attendance. Only in the jockey room was there a distinct atmosphere of gloom, for the hospital reports of Mr. Minny were far from encouraging, and there is no denying the fact that the little fellow was immensely popular, with his unassuming manner and his sporting keenness.

The big race itself was both poor and brilliant. Those who were beaten by old Wheatcroft invited trouble, and they got it. Any and all of the other six could have made the pace fast enough to give themselves a good chance of winning and of preventing him from winning. In a slow run race, he could be depended upon to finish as well as any of them, yet they allowed the distance to be covered in time a first-class pony could do, and Wheatcroft, in charge of a veteran who still challenges the best in China for supremacy, thrashed them all. Busy Bee threw up the sponge when he had every chance to win. Starlit Eve never flattered: Switzerland made the gamest possible attempt, but was not equal to winning; the gallant Fireflash justified expectations by running a good third; and it was left to Election Eve, a shorter distance pony, and the presumed pace-maker for the big stable, to challenge the Champion.

A Splendid Record.

The race was timed at—35.2; 1.09.4; 1.40.4; 2.12.1. It went without any real incident until they swept into the straight six abreast, Busy Bee dropping behind, and when Wheatcroft broke away and held on to win, amidst tremendous cheering, which was repeated a hundredfold, for both pony and rider, when they returned to scale. This makes Wheatcroft's fourth win in the big race, while he has been second three times, and third twice. Mr. J. K. Brand has ridden three Champions winners, five seconds, and two thirds.

There was a point of interest which is claimed as a "record." Whilst the jockeys were weighing out for the Champions, an old hand burst out with—"Faith! There isn't a single foreigner amongst them!" When asked for an explanation he said he meant that all the jockeys in the race were Shanghai-born, and it is believed that this is the first instance of the kind on record. Though it was such a small field, the runners made an impressive appearance in the parade ring, for there was not one who was not a picture of fitness. Wheatcroft looked better than he has ever done, carrying his head high and stepping like a youngster. Most judges awarded the palm to Election Eve and Alligator, but there was only the finest distinction between any of them.

SHAMEEN FOOTBALL.

SPORTS CLUB BEAT SAILORS.

In a football match played between the Shameen Sports Club and H.M.S. Giala, the Club won by three goals to one. The two teams met on Monday, November 3 when the sailors won by two goals to one.

A distinct improvement in the forward line was mainly responsible for the victory of the Club. All their goals were scored in the first half. A few minutes before the end the sailors netted their only goal. They were unfortunate in having to play with only ten men most of the time as H. H. Stevens, their right half, retired injured shortly after the commencement.

The teams were:—
Shameen Sports Club.—A. T. Lay; W. Nogaitig and G. W. S. T. McFutichin; E. Sterling; R. Rasmussen and R. R. W. Ashby; d'A. Baker Carr, F. Seegolken, Gibbons, B. Brind and H. Reimers.
H.M.S. Giala.—C. I. Hicks; P. McNeice and Lieut.-Comdr. A. A. Havers; H. H. Williams, F. Bender and H. H. Stevens; M. McKessick; W. T. A. Rees; D. H. Demoney; Surg.-Lieut. E. S. Bolton and F. Pinder.

LA BARBA IN OLD FORM.

KID CHOCOLATE-BEATEN.

[UNITED PRESS.]

New York.—Fidel La Barba, the former flyweight champion of the world, gained a decision over the Cuban featherweight, Kid Chocolate, this evening at Madison Square Garden in a 10-round bout. This victory crowns La Barba as champion of the featherweights, for, although Bud Battalino technically holds the championship, he has dodged crucial encounters so long that the title has been declared open by popular consent.

Chocolate, usually without a peer both in avoiding punishment, and in giving it, had a bad beating in the course of the encounter, though he continued to show good form. La Barba was almost irresistible in the opinion of the experts. It was only the second decision the Cuban has lost in the course of his long career, including more than 200 regular bouts.

La Barba will meet Bud Taylor in New York on November 28.

SIR T. LIPTON'S REWARD.

TO RECEIVE "MOST CHEERFUL LOSER" CUP.

[UNITED PRESS.]

New York.—"The world's most cheerful loser." Sir Thomas Lipton, arrived here to-day on the steamer Levantian to receive the first cup he has won through five consecutive challenges of American yachting supremacy. It is not for winning a yacht race, but for losing in 31 years of yacht racing at a cost to himself of £38,000,000, that Sir Thomas is to receive this cup.

Will Rogers, the stage and writer "comedy cut-up," started the idea for what has become known as the "People's Cup," in contrast with the "America's Cup," for which Sir Thomas has so often and so unsuccessfully challenged. In a telegram to his newspaper supporters while Sir Thomas was still here during the recent America's Cup races, Rogers suggested that such a cup be purchased by subscriptions throughout the United States of G.81 each, and that it be inscribed:—"To possibly the world's worst yacht builder, but absolutely the world's most cheerful loser. You have been a benefit to mankind, Sir Thomas. You have made losing worth while."

Mr. James J. Walker, Mayor of New York, another of America's outstanding irrepressibles, promptly accepted an invitation to take charge of collecting subscriptions, with the result that the project went through successfully.

Upon arrival to-day, Sir Thomas reiterated the announcement which he recently made in repudiation of his withdrawal from further America's Cup races. He declared that he will challenge once more in 1932.

WIN FOR CHINESE BOXER.

[UNITED PRESS.]

New York, Nov. 6.—Long Sing Que, a Chinese boxer, weighing 131 lbs., gained a decision here this evening over Nat Kankay, 125 lb., in four rounds.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—King Lovinsky gained a 10-round decision over the former light heavyweight world champion, Jimmy Slattery, here this evening.

FOOTBALL PEACE TREATY.

U.S. ARMY AND NAVY SETTLE DIFFERENCES.

[UNITED PRESS.]

Washington, Nov. 6.—Army authorities at West Point Military Academy and Navy authorities at Annapolis Naval Academy are understood to have settled their differences on the subject of football contests between the two institutions.

Mr. Charles Francis Adams, Secretary of the Navy, announced to-day that he is willing to allow a post-season Army-Navy game to be held, by way of healing the breach, which has now existed for several years, but he said that final action on the point has not yet been taken. Officials of the academies must make the final decision, he said.

G. M. Lott, the American Davis Cup lawn tennis player, was married at Elkton, Maryland, recently to Miss Abigail Stapleford Allen, daughter of Mr. Ralph Clayton Allen, of Abington, near Philadelphia. The wedding was in the nature of an elopement, the bride and bridegroom having motored across the border from Pennsylvania. The young couple met at a social function at the home of Mr. F. E. Dixon, the non-playing captain of the American Davis Cup team. Lott, who played at Wimbledon this year, announced his retirement in August.

EASTERN NEWS IN BRIEF

PARS FROM EVERYWHERE.

In accordance with the National Government's order for the adoption of the Gregorian calendar, Chinese banks in Shanghai will be closed to business on January 1, 2 and 3. However, these banks will observe their "Spring Holiday" on February 17 and 18 which coincide with Chinese New Year Days.

According to the Sinwanpao, the Soviet administration in Harbin proposes to build a new consulate at the cost of R. 1,000,000. The plans are being kept secret, but the remarkable statement is made that the Chinese authorities have obtained a copy of the plans which include "fortifications, a trench system and a tunnel."

The Chinese press now denies the breakdown of the Moscow Conference and says that the prospect of an early resumption of the Conference has grown brighter because Mr. Mohr, the Chinese chief delegate to that conference, has telegraphed to the National Government, asking for permission to extend the period of his stay in Russia for three months more so that he may resume negotiations.

In order to ascertain the exact number of Chinese in various foreign countries, the Waichiao has sent hundreds of thousands of "overseas Chinese registration forms" and "nationality certificates" to 61 Chinese Legations and Consulates and ordered the latter to distribute these among the overseas Chinese of their respective places so that these forms may be filled and subsequently sent to Nanking for statistical purposes.

Judging from various indications, General Chen Ming Shu is generally mentioned as the possible successor to the chairmanship of the Provincial Government of Hunan after the resignation of General Ho Chien, which is expected to be made shortly. It is noticeable that the movement for ousting General Ho Chien from his present post has been very active since his failure to withstand the Communist advance into Changsha. The thorough-going reorganization of the present military units in Hunan will be made very shortly.

Osaka, November 5.—Mr. Bunji Suzuki, president of the Japan General Federation of Labour, who several times represented Japanese labour groups in the International Labour Conference, clearly expressed his intention to retire from the labour movement yesterday, when he was unanimously recommended to remain in the post at the 10th National Convention of the Federation here. Mr. Komakiichi Masuoka is popularly mentioned as the possible successor to Mr. Suzuki as the next president of the Federation.

As the Foodstuffs Committee in Nanking has approved the embargo on the importation of Japanese rice, it is expected that the Finance Department of the National Government will dispatch orders to that effect to the Maritime Customs all over the country. Although the Committee will refrain from interfering with dealing in Japanese rice already imported into China, the cargo is not much demanded in Shanghai. However, prohibitive measures of the Nanking Government will not affect considerably the Japanese rice situation, since Japanese exporters are practically refraining themselves from importing Japanese rice any more into Shanghai.

AMAZING STORIES OF SUPERSTITION.

GERMAN "PROPHET" CHARGED

Berlin, Nov. 4.—Amazing tales of medieval superstition were revealed in the trial here of August John Josef Weissenberg, known as the "Prophet of the Evangelical Church" according to St. John, which had its "temple" in one of Berlin's northern suburbs. The public prosecutor demanded a sentence of 18 months' imprisonment because the accused had by absurd treatment contributed to the death of one man and to the blindness of a child. The court galleries were crowded with the prophet's disciples bearing his image. Weissenberg was formerly a stonemason and later on a waiter, valet and chauffeur. He told the court that Jesus Christ had appeared to him and had asked him to leave his work and found a new church. The treatment for abscesses and for swollen eyes was the same: soft white cheese with a little salt was being put on the affected part whereafter he would recite, "Our Father and the Lord's Prayer. The good remedies were, he claimed, bread and salt soup and tea made of grass.

RURAL SENTIMENT CHANGING.

DEMOCRATIC MOVE OVER TO "WETS."

[UNITED PRESS.]

Chicago, Nov. 5.—A change in rural sentiment on the prohibition issue from "dry" to "wet" is considered to be indicated by the fact that the plurality of the successful Democratic Senatorial candidate, Mr. James Hamilton Lewis, may run as high as half a million votes over Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick.

Down-state Illinois had been expected by "dry" leaders to rally behind the Republican candidate, but her recent indication that she would follow the result of the Illinois prohibition referendum possibly weakened her strength as a "dry" spokeswoman.

Dry Chief Cancels Trip.

San Francisco, Nov. 5.—Dr. Amos Woodcock, the national prohibition chief who had been scheduled to sail for Honolulu from San Francisco to-day, suddenly cancelled his reservations without explanation. Officials of the Matson Navigation Company said that President Hoover had recalled him for an important conference.

In some quarters it was surmised that this might have to do with the "wet" trend manifest in the returns of the elections yesterday. Dr. Woodcock was understood to have been ordered to be in Washington for a meeting day after tomorrow, for which reason he must fly to New York instead of taking train.

CASTOR OIL THREATS DENIED.

GERMAN FASCIST LEADER SAYS HE WAS MISQUOTED.

Berlin, Nov. 5.—An amusing controversy rages in the Press over the report on the speech made by the prominent National Socialist leader, Dr. Goebbels, at a closed meeting of his supporters when he is alleged to have stated that on coming into power his party would know how to treat newspapers and editors as he would order his "storming columns" to visit those newspaper offices and force each of the editors to drink a quart of castor oil.

Furthermore his legionnaires would be given permission to beat up all owners of foreign-made motor-cars which would be burned up as a warning. The Communists, he would down by shooting six of their most prominent leaders which would be sufficient to deter the rest.

When the report appeared in the Press Dr. Goebbels immediately issued a denial, complaining that the sentences had been taken out of their context and distorted. The Republican Press however maintains that the report was absolutely reliable since it was based on stenographic reports made by several independent witnesses. It is also pointed out that similar threats have been made by National Socialist leaders on various occasions during the election campaign and besides were inherently true as being in accordance with the intellectual standard of the National Socialist masses to whom the party had nothing else to offer. The papers point out only one thing missing, namely a declaration that those measures would be taken along legal and constitutional lines just as Herr Hitler recently declared before the supreme court in connection with his threat that on his party's coming to power heads would roll around.

HEGEMONY OF NEAR EAST.

DISQUIET CAUSED IN FRENCH CIRCLES OVER TURKEY.

Geneva, Nov. 5.—A good deal of disquiet has been caused in French circles here by the report that the Turkish Government has decided to send a delegation to the forthcoming session of the preparatory disarmament commission of the League of Nations.

The delegation, it is said, will be headed by the Foreign Minister, Rushdi Bey, who is already en route for Geneva where, it is feared, he will join the anti-French camp. Moreover it is reported that on his way back to Ankara he will remain for several days in Rome in order to confer with Premier Mussolini.

This news is looked upon as a confirmation of the persistent rumours of the forthcoming formation of a Near Eastern bloc under Italian hegemony and with Turkey, Greece, Bulgaria and Hungary as its members. Meanwhile the majority of the delegations attending the session of the commission are expected to arrive on Thursday.

NEW MINERS' STRIKE THREATENED.

"DAILY HERALD" PREDICTS WALK-OUT.

London, November 4.—The Daily Herald, the organ of the Labour Party, to-day forecasts the outbreak of a general strike of the coal miners throughout England, Scotland and Wales on December 1 on the question of the seven-and-a-half working hours day.

Coming shortly after the defeat of the Labour Party in the municipal elections and the Conservative move against the Cabinet in the House of Commons in connection with the alleged failure of the MacDonald Government to check the growth of unemployment, the paper's forecast is bound to arouse the greatest interest in political and economic circles.

MORE HONOURS FOR FRENCH FLIERS.

RECEIVED BY FRENCH SENATE.

Paris, Nov. 5.—Major Coste and M. Belpaire were received by the Senate to-day, numerous distinguished persons being present.

M. Gaston Mounier, president of the aeronautical group in the Senate praised the flight of the two aviators who he said had captured the admiration of the world and who were the best ambassadors of peace.

The Air Minister then gave a short history of the preparations of the flight and warmly praised the two airmen.

MYSTERY OF CAVE CLEARED UP.

MAN WHO DISAPPEARED IN 1900.

Bath, Nov. 7.—The mystery of a skeleton found in a cave in Walsley High Woods, near Bath, has been solved at an inquest to-day.

The remains are identified as those of James Humphries, formerly clerk to the Parish Council and Assistant Overseer of Freshford village, a few miles away, who disappeared in 1900. A revolver containing a spent cartridge was found near the skeleton and there was a hole in the forehead apparently caused by a bullet. His official books were in order. The verdict was that the skeleton is that of Humphries and that he was found shot in a cave.

SHIPPING FIRM'S
£34,000 LOSS.

SECRETARY CHARGED.

£1,500 EMBEZZLED BY PURSER.

Seventeen charges of fraud, uttering forged documents, and embezzlement involving £34,000 were brought against Robert James Hammond, who was described as secretary and accountant of the Anchor Line (Henderson Bros., Ltd.), of St. Vincent Place, Glasgow, when he appeared at the Glasgow Sheriff's Court last month. He pleaded guilty.

According to the indictment, Hammond, by representing to the cashier of the Anchor Line that Messrs. William Beardsmore & Co., Ltd., desired the immediate payment of money due to them, induced the cashier to deliver £2,500 to him, which he appropriated to his own use. A second charge stated that Hammond uttered what purported to be a receipt from Messrs. Wm. Beardsmore & Co., Ltd., for the sum of £2,500 on April 2, 1929, £3,500 on June 24, 1929, £4,000 on November 11, 1929, £2,000 on January 16, 1930, £2,000 on February 1, 1930, and £4,000 on April 11, 1930, and a further six counts deal with the uttering of forged documents. The fifteenth charge alleges that between June 6, 1930, and September 8, 1930, while acting as secretary and accountant to the Anchor Line, Hammond embezzled £2,000, and the sixteenth and seventeenth charges allege the embezzlement of £2,000 and £1,000 respectively.

Hammond was remitted to the High Court for sentence.

Purser Sentenced.

At the same court Thomas Kelly McGregor admitted that while acting as purser to the Anchor Line between June 1, 1929, and September 8, 1930, he embezzled £1,500. He was sentenced to twelve months' imprisonment.

Mr. Joseph C. Patterson, deputy fiscal, stating the case against Hammond, said that the matter came to light through the assistant cashier suspecting that something was wrong. Hammond immediately was being made, and was subsequently taken out of the River Clyde, into which the Deputy Fiscal said, he had thrown himself.

A solicitor for Hammond said that a statement on Hammond's behalf would be reserved until he appeared at the High Court.

Mr. Patterson said that McGregor was 41 years of age and a native of Glasgow. He had been in the service of the Anchor Line since 1910 and for the past two years he acted as purser.

Mr. W. Ross McLean, for McGregor, said that one of the most distressing features of the case was that McGregor's mother, on learning of her son's arrest, died almost immediately from grief. McGregor had an exemplary record.

PADEREWSKI A POOR MAN.

CONCERT TOUR OF U.S.A. TO MAKE MONEY.

Paderevski, the world-famous pianist, recently sailed for the United States in the liner Paris on another of his great adventures. The pianist is seventy years of age and is suffering from phlebitis, but he is to go to the United States and give no fewer than seven concerts for the pure and simple reason that he needs the money.

The musician travelled alone, and for the first time in his life he is undertaking a concert tour without his wife, Mme. Paderevski, who is incurably ill, and will never be able to travel again.

Fortune Spent.

Paderevski has spent his great fortune he amassed by giving generously to all sorts of claims made upon him.

After the world war, when his native country, Poland, became a nation once again, Paderevski was called to Warsaw, and it will be recalled that he became the head of the temporary Government. What is not known outside his immediate circle is that from his own private resources he gave and gave heartily for his country.

But it was not only patriotism that depleted his funds. Music has always come first in the great happenings of his life, and many a struggling musician has been, and still is, supported by Paderevski's purse.

He keeps a staff of six musicians in constant employment, and the cost of their upkeep is heavy.

Now he is seventy, and is utterly penniless, and he has the money to meet the responsibilities he has so generously shouldered.

Money and Markets

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.MODERATE ADVANCE AFTER EARLY DECLINE.

[UNITED PRESS.]

New York, Nov. 9.—A moderate recovery was experienced on the New York Exchange to-day after early declines had brought the market to new low quotations, says the daily review of the Dow Jones Financial News Agency.

CHINESE SUGAR
MERCHANTS.RESIGNATION OF ASSOCIA-TION'S CHAIRMAN.

The annual meeting of the Chinese Sugar Merchants' Association will take place this week, and in connection with this it is interesting to learn that Mr. Ho Lu, the chairman and hon. English secretary of the Association will not serve in either capacity again, owing to pressure of work. Mr. Ho Lu has been English secretary for the past six years and his place will be difficult to fill. He was elected chairman at the beginning of last term.
